

PSMB Bimetallic Protectors

First Technology's PSMB is a single pole, snap action, automatic reset (SAE Type I) circuit breaker designed to protect wiring harnesses, battery powered riding toys, portable power tools and many other applications with operating voltage up to 24 Volts DC or 240 Volts AC.

The PSMB provides a compact profile, broad design flexibility and versatile mounting options. Plus, First Technology's custom engineering can meet your specific needs.

First Technology is an ISO and TS registered company. We provide world-class quality products error free and on time.

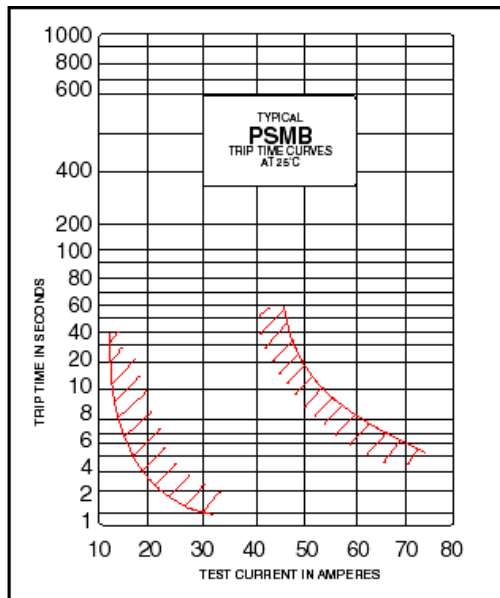

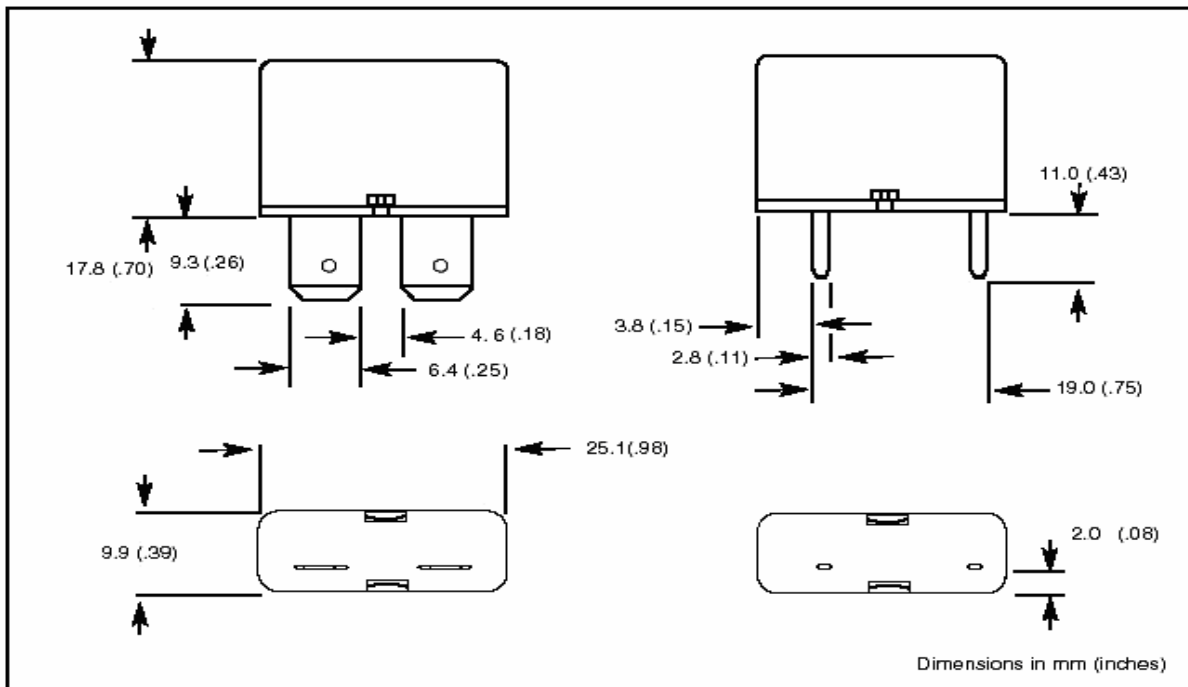

Features:

- Automatic reset (Type I). Meets or exceeds the most demanding specifications in a variety of AC and DC applications
- Multiple terminal configurations available

Benefits:

- Low cost
- Miniature design
- Engineered to customer specifications

General Specifications
Operating Voltage	Up to 24 Volts DC and 240 Volts AC
Current Rating	10 to 35 Amps at 25°C (in 5 Amp increments)

These curves are to be used only as a guide in selecting a protector for a particular application. Factors such as distance from the heat source and the method of mounting should be considered in selecting a protector. Final trip times are dependent upon terminal configuration and mounting in the application.
